Dear (teacher),

In the afternoon of 13 December 2004, the Tenth Mountain Division Living History Display Group, Inc. will present a World War II Living History program for xxx class. As part of the presentation, one or more presentors will appear as combat soldiers in the Spring of 1945; will be wearing the full combat dress and equipment appropriate to the role and the time period. "Full combat dress" normally includes weapons.

The weapons in question are functional U.S. Army World War II rifles, pistols and bayonets. Under Colorado law, weapons may be permitted in the classroom as part of an educational display. We will provide these artifacts only with written permission of the administration of the school, on school letterhead. If this is not acceptable, please let me know so the presentation may be adjusted accordingly.

This program has been presented in area schools many times in the past, with positive results. No live ammunition will be part of the presentation. The weapons will be under the presenter's supervision at all times. If permission is granted, we will contact local law enforcement to notify them of our presence and of your permission. We ask that any security personnel in the school, as well as the school staff, be made aware of our visit. They are welcome to inspect any weapons present.

Thank you for this opportunity to teach a part of Colorado's history at xxx. We appreciate your support and assistance in this matter.

Sincerely,

cc: (local law enforcement)
